QRME, in collaboration with Deakin University and the National Centre for Farmers' Health, is excited to support the Agricultural Health and Medicine HMF 701 unit being held at:

The Cedar Centre, Toowoomba on February 15- 19, 2012.

HMF701 Agricultural Health and Medicine is a 5-day intensive study unit offered by the School of Medicine at Deakin University and the National Centre for Farmer Health. It aims to develop the next generation of rural and agricultural health leaders to improve the health, safety and well-being of rural and remote Australians. The course topics include but is not limited to:

- * high risk remote populations and chronic disease
- * agricultural respiratory health
- * occupational health assessments
- * vision and hearing injuries
- * remote emergency medicine
- * addiction, suicide and mental illness in rural Australia

This course is available to a variety of health professionals and can also be credited to further post graduate studies. Places are limited.

Applications close January 11th.
This course is available to a maximum of 25 delegates.
